U.S. ARMY COMMAND AND GENERAL
STAFF COLLEGE PRESS

In September 1991, the commandant of the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth authorized the establishment of the Command and General Staff College (CGSC) Press. The CGSC Press has the following missions:

- To provide an outlet for the professional publication of monographs and book-length works on all subjects of interest to professional officers.
- To aid in professional military education at all levels of the U.S. Army and other military services, foreign as well as domestic.
- To promote and support the advanced study of the theory, history, and practice of the military art by professional officers and other military experts.
- To promote and support the professional development of the CGSC faculty and faculties of other institutions of higher military education in the United States and abroad.
